UNCLE SAMMY.

[Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.]

New York, July 12.—[Special.]—The New York Times will tomorrow publish the following dispatch from Syracuse: The Presidential race of 1884 appears to interest much of the attention of party managers, both leaders and shouters, from the approaching State campaign or any other intervening political event, except, perhaps, the probable results of the election in Ohio. The Democratic leaders in the State are earnestly pushing forward the movement to hold the next National convention of their party in New York, and it is rather significant that a short distance southward in favor of the convention of the "old guard"—Tilden and Bayard—is making rapid headway. What the Democrats in New Castle, Syracuse, Buffalo, and other points of the State with whom the Chicago correspondent has conversed say, that nothing is the conviction that the nomination of the "old ticket" is the safest if not the only practicable way of securing the vote still under the National Democratic roof, have to surrender to their open opponents. It is conceded by all New York Democrats that if any candidates from the Empire State is to be presented at the next National Convention it must be Mr. Tilden, and although he still is entrenched in a taken portion of the Democratic position and repudiates but Tilden would be sure of carrying the State. But would Tilden accept? This is a question that continues to be asked by many who have read the account of Mr. Watterson's visit to Gramercy, and who are not aware of the change that has come over the spirit of the Sage, and which has been wrought, as his friends say, by an entire oblivion to the election.

AN APPEARING ANOMALY.

The Times' correspondent, more astute or old and intimate friend of Mr. Tilden as the latest Union writer and gathered from him some facts with regard to Mr. Tilden's views and purposes which are of interest to the public just at this time.

After some conversation the gentleman was persuaded to submit to a formal interview, with the understanding that it was to be published, and it took substantially the following shape:

"Do you have long hours as legitimate hours with Mr. Tilden, and are hurried to be on perfect absence of his record as a public man, I would like to ask you some questions about his views, as far as you are acquainted with them, upon current topics, and particularly upon the subject of the next Presidential campaign."

"I am willing to answer your questions on my own responsibility, and will endeavor to accurately reflect Mr. Tilden's views on public affairs from recent prolonged interviews with him, but with the understanding always that I am not his mouthpiece and do not pretend to respond for his language. In the ordinary method of newspaper interviews I believe Mr. Tilden's lips are sealed, and especially upon topics personal to himself."

"How many years have you seen Mr. Tilden?"

"Seventeen."

"Are you really abreast of Mr. Tilden's views and purposes regarding the approaching election for the Presidency?"

"I have good reason to say."

"Can you assure that a wide discussion of the subject by the Democratic press, and the avowal of a Presidential purpose, will not do you more harm than good?"

"Success or defeat."

"I am satisfied that to revive the public opinion to a contest on discretionary to the success of the public business that he will hardly accept the office of a Democratic, to regard to the idea of an aggressive stand upon the political questions, he has been fully aware for any consequence of this kind, and would be the most destructive to results and object, but the strongest reasons to such a consideration should it occur. In this case, and that alone, were the immediate circumstances surrounded the idea of his further candidacy, and then, to such great and overwhelming proportions of Democratic opinion as to make it impossible for him to refuse."

"Do you think that Mr. Tilden will be a candidate?"

"I am not authorized to say what Mr. Tilden will do, but I am satisfied that he would not be a candidate unless he felt that the people wanted him, and that he could be elected. He has no personal ambition to gratify, and does not desire the office for the honor it confers, but he has a strong desire to see the Democratic party restored to power, and to see the reforms which he has inaugurated in this State carried out in the National Government. He has no personal ends to serve, and

REVENUE MATTERS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—(Special.)—The "Administration," as Commissioner Dugan will his office, is to receive pickles. The non-native decision, which was made upon a casual observation from the head of the tobacco division, to there is best to be-medicate and microscope nature to the requirements of those heretofore improperly taxed. Some part six has been manufactured for years and sold under proprietary stamps. Commissioner Dugan has now decided that it is a beverage, consequently the proper tax should have been that of wholesale dealers in liquors or rectifiers—that is, $200 a year. Instead of the proprietary stamp tax of four or five cents a bottle. The difference between these sums for a series of years will be very great, and the opinion is expressed by experts in Commissioner Dugan's office that this difference will under the present decision prove a valid claim against the Government. The manufacturers now are understood to claim that their present protection is manufactured exactly as it has heretofore been when proprietary stamps were required, and, therefore, if it is a beverage now it always has been a beverage, and the tax must be refunded. The question arises from taking the head of the tobacco division here to a field that was new to him.

SECRETARY'S CALL.

A. B. Farnam, Collector of Internal Revenue for the New Orleans District of Louisiana, had an interview with Commissioner Dugan [illegible] to-day, in which he stated that he should be exonerated for his connection now in the case of the Treasury agent who had collected the [illegible] and put it to other purposes or short [illegible] expenses.

Commissioner Dudley discharged two clerks connected with the gaugers office who were witnesses of those accused last Tuesday. There was no evidence to show that they had been disobedient, and the probability of the government profiting upon this accident prompted the action in asking a suspension on account of [illegible] duties. Mr. Dudley also made some [illegible] to-day in which he stated that he would not appoint any person to a position in the Internal Revenue service who had been a member of the Board of Police Commissioners who had refused to testify before the Congressional committee.

The collection in the Creek District are becoming more serious. Assessor Dolan is at the [illegible]. He says he sends [illegible] to get any information as to the worth of the property or as to what would be done. He wants to send a commissioner to make an investigation, but cannot unless he can have some [illegible] to accompany him. THE ELEVATED ROADS.

New York, July 11.—The Metropolitan Elevated Railroad Company's suit against the Manhattan and New York Companies to set aside the traffic agreements of 1881, to which the Manhattan and New York Companies were parties to the Court of Common Pleas, a temporary injunction was granted restraining the defendants from carrying out these agreements, and commanding the defendants upon notice to set aside this injunction upon their giving bond to indemnify the plaintiff company against any loss which they might sustain upon the reversal of the injunction. Chief Justice Sedgwick has now ordered a bond to be filed and made the injunction. The bond required was the same required, but the undertaking is to be for $100,000. The bond will be signed by the Manhattan Railway Company, the New York Elevated Railway Company, Cyrus W. Field, Jay Gould, and Russell Sage. The Metropolitan Company will not be a party to the bond, as it has agreed to contribute to the payment of $100,000, but will pay the amount if not paid otherwise by the 1st of August. The bond will be signed by the officers of the consolidating companies with seals, and acknowledged before a notary public. The bond was prepared by Attorney Ellis H. Roberts, and is satisfactory to all parties.

JEALOUSY.

New York, July 11.—[Special.]—A ghastly tragedy occurred, and three murders narrowly escaped, in Brooklyn last night. Policemen Campbell and Sullivan, of the Fifth precinct, were passing the corner of Third avenue and Forty-fourth street, when they heard a woman's screams, and then another shriek. In the middle of the block they found men were carrying out of the house into the street. In the middle of the body was a young man, apparently dying. A young man was supporting a young woman, and a young man was apparently dying on the sidewalk. The young man was Joseph Bennett, aged 21, of 448 West Thirty-fifth street. He owned what is the matter with him. He had called to see Miss Annie Lewis, 19 years old, in the flat, and found her in company with another young woman and a young man. They had been out riding, and Miss Lewis refused to see him. He then drew a revolver and fired at her, the ball striking her in the left breast. She fell, and he fired at the other young woman, the ball striking her in the left breast. She fell, and he fired at the young man, the ball striking him in the left breast. He then turned the weapon on himself, the ball striking him in the left breast. He then turned the weapon on himself, the ball striking him in the left breast. He then turned the weapon on himself

The people of Lincoln, the scene of an early Jewish Shooter last week, yesterday presented another affair of the same kind.

A shocking tragedy was enacted in the early part of the day within. The shooting occurred in the house of Mrs. Mary Ann Hall, on Sixth street, between Q and R streets, and resulted in the death of Mrs. Hall. The man whose name is not known, but who gave his name as Hall, and is said to be a brother of Mrs. Hall, is now in jail, charged with the murder.

Mrs. Hall, who was about 50 years of age, was a widow, and lived alone with her family of children. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was highly respected by her neighbors.

The shooting occurred about 7 o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Hall was in the kitchen of her house, preparing breakfast for herself and children, when her brother entered the room. Without a word of warning he drew a revolver and fired at her, the ball striking her in the left breast, near the heart. She fell to the floor, and died almost instantly.

The murderer then turned the weapon upon himself, and fired a shot into his head, but the wound was not fatal. He then walked out of the house and started down the street, but was soon overtaken by a police officer, who arrested him and took him to the station house. He was locked up on a charge of murder.

The murderer is a man about 50 years of age, and is said to have been a resident of Lincoln for many years. He is a carpenter by trade, and has been employed at the State House for some time past. He is said to be of unsound mind, and it is thought that he will plead insanity as a defense.

Mrs. Hall was a woman of good character, and was highly respected by her neighbors. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was a regular attendant at its services. She was a kind mother to her children, and was devoted to their welfare. She was a woman of strong character, and was a leader in her church and in the community. She was a woman of great energy, and was always ready to help those in need. She was a woman of great faith, and was always ready to trust in God. SPECIAL CABLE TO THE TRIBUNE.

LONDON, July 10.—[Special Cable.]—The discussion on coals in the House of Commons to-day [illegible] to the Government that a breakfast on the seaboard of the Island, with a corresponding influence on the commercial of the naturally to greater. There was lying [illegible] to the service of the day of a French outrage on the Hughes flag, but no one was prepared for the suppression of the association of Admiral Pierre at Tamatave until the [illegible] toward the Hovas with the appearance of an official announcement. The bombardment of the city is very great. Nothing else is spoken of in political circles or the private evening. The correspondent offices are besieged evening for [illegible] from the French capital. Tamatave is quite deserted now. People who can [illegible] Should they [illegible] on either of the French Governments of any government [illegible] there have unfortunate such a high-handed proceeding without the [illegible] of the Chamber, a proposal [illegible] which, according to all the late previous international relations, [illegible] a casus belli, while others say that under the treaties of some occupied rights, it is [illegible] to protect the [illegible] and [illegible] Government. There [illegible] and has rumbled, and [illegible] that the strong report in the Channel Island, among [illegible] an [illegible] to England without [illegible] of the country's influence, and the country feeling is at the other end.

THE SUEZ CANAL QUESTION AT GLADSTONE'S MEETINGS.

LONDON, July 10.—The result of the defeat of the French in Madagascar, alluded to by Gladstone in the House of Commons yesterday, came from the British Consul at Zanzibar. It was brought to that place by a steamer. The French Government has not replied to Salisbury's demand for details of the preceding occurrences.

During the session of the House of Lords this afternoon, Lord Salisbury questioned Lord Granville, the Foreign Secretary, as to whether the Suez Canal Company, or to whether the Suez Canal Company is to be [illegible] to Singapore have been [illegible] to [illegible].

Lord Granville will be unable [illegible] to-morrow, which might be [illegible] to-day, but there is no [illegible] to [illegible] the French Government to be willing to do what was right in the matter.

The French Government have informed England that they would [illegible] advices from Tamatave before replying to Lord Granville's demand for explanations of the occurrences there.

Count, the French ambassador to London, who is absent on a furlough, will return to London [illegible] to-morrow [illegible].

A Paris dispatch says the French Government has not been informed of the assault [illegible] to Tamatave, reported to [illegible] to the House of Commons yesterday.

THE SUEZ CANAL.

Dublin, July 10.—The evening papers [illegible] serious difficulty will arise out of the Tamatave events. The Conservative [illegible] the attack has engendered a very small effect. The Liberal [illegible] expresses a similar opinion, and points to what it describes as a growing tendency on the part of the English to consider themselves entitled to acquiesce from the [illegible] regard for [illegible] as natural actions.

ANOTHER FRENCH DISASTER.

The Journal de Paris, commenting upon the news [illegible] Madagascar, says: "It is impossible to deny that we have obtained quite as quick stage of the negotiations with England to regard to the French action at Tamatave. France declares that the matter is in England over the Tamatave affair must have taken [illegible] a consequence of the feelings of the French colonist, whose [illegible] were [illegible] to cultivate cordial relations with England. THE SUEZ CANAL.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL DO NOTHING WITH [illegible].

LONDON, July 10.—The London Chamber of Commerce has unanimously decided that the agreement between the British Government and De Lesseps for the construction of another Suez Canal is inadequate and unsatisfactory. Bankers of importance at Amsterdam and Port Said have voiced the [illegible] agreement is detrimental to British mercantile interests. Numerous other similar [illegible] throughout the country have caused [illegible] of the above character, indicative only of public [illegible].

A meeting of merchants and shipowners [illegible] to discuss the agreement between De Lesseps and the British Government is to [illegible] to the project for a second Suez Canal, committees have been appointed [illegible] that the Government had promised to use its influence to obtain a concession for a second canal in favor of De Lesseps' company, or [illegible] of securing a concession for an independent British canal.

The agreement of the British Government and De Lesseps, or the proposal now [illegible] Canal, is [illegible] have the privately-owned [illegible] that De Lesseps [illegible] the exclusive right of [illegible] the [illegible] of Suez.

The Times, in an article on the canal agreement, says: "The agreement has been received with [illegible] opposition. It is [illegible] that the House of Commons will even attempt to [illegible] to amend it. The country [illegible] there [illegible] any [illegible] sentiment of [illegible] and indignation if they [illegible] action to a [illegible] [illegible] which [illegible] [illegible] Admiral."

THE CHOLERA.

THE EPIDEMIC STILL SPREADING.

ALEXANDRIA, July 10.—Cholera has appeared at Abuk and Chiena, forty and sixty miles respectively from Cairo. It spread [illegible] the number of cases from the [illegible] of Alexandria [illegible] to have been eighty-[illegible] [illegible] of fifty-nine, as before reported. Thirty-two deaths occurred at Damietta during the twenty-four hours ending at 9 o'clock this morning. The deaths [illegible] at Mansoura Monday and Tuesday were forty-eight.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, July 10.—The Government has determined to send to Egypt the British Surgeon-General, who has had much experience in the management of cholera in India.

TO BE INVESTIGATED.

PARIS, July 10.—Louis Pasteur, the well-known French chemist, has offered to organize a mission with the object of investigating the nature and origin of the cholera in Egypt. The Cholera Commission has indorsed the scheme, and Pasteur has applied to Lord Granville, the British Foreign Secretary, to furnish him with facilities for carrying out his mission.
